Program Description and Criteria

The Economic Club scholarship provides an award of $20,000 to select DC students who have been nominated by participating public high schools. Each school's nominating committee will recommend a maximum of two students to receive the award in accordance with the Award paragraph below.

Successful candidates will be chosen by the school's principal and the nominating committee, based principally on academic achievement, with consideration given for other community/extracurricular activities, leadership, financial need, student essay, character evaluation form, and other personal or family attributes. Each award winner will be required to attend an award ceremony in the spring for the formal awards presentation. Each award winner will also be invited to participate in the Scholars to Leaders mentor program as outlined below.

Scholars to Leaders Program

Scholarship winners will be eligible to participate in the Scholars to Leaders Mentor Program beginning in the summer following high school and continuing through the college years until the student graduates. The program is designed to match scholarship winners with Economic Club members and alumni to provide quality, consistent, and meaningful support for student success. Services provided include:

- Scholarship winners will attend a series of Seminars which will take place in the summer following high school graduation. These Seminars are hosted by select Economic Club members, who invite the students into their place of business for a day of informative education.
- Scholarship winners will be eligible to enroll in the Scholars to Leaders Mentor Program which matches students with Economic Club members and scholarship alumni to provide relevant support and guidance meant to encourage successful college completion and prepare students for careers in their fields of interest.
- Scholarship winners will be eligible for summer internship programs available exclusively for Economic Club scholars following the successful completion of their sophomore year in college.
- Scholarship winners will be eligible to apply for Capital Explorer Funds upon completion of 30 credit hours or the equivalent. This program supports opportunities that will help advance the scholar's academic and professional growth during their college education.

Award
